Many Attend M.E.A. Sessions

Musical Numbers Given
By Local Musicians
Are Enjoyed

Attracted by the promise of contacts with such noted educators as Dr. Andrew Weaver, Prof. F. M. Rarig, Dr. W. D. Reeve, Dr. F. B. Knight, and Dr. O. R. Sande, between 700 and 800 teachers and superintendents attended the 36th session of the S.E.M.E.A. here last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. The Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa sent representative educational leaders here. Relaxation and keen enjoyment were offered through the medium of musical selections given by the Mendelssohn and Apollo Clubs Thursday afternoon, organ solos by Arthur Thompson, and vocal solos by Janet Rohweder. Thursday evening the string trio of the Minneapolis symphony gave a program of solos and trios.

The round tables held for special sections of the school curriculum were well attended and proved especially illuminating and inspirational under the guidance of efficient educational leaders. The new feature of demonstration resulted in approval and better understanding of that special type of study.

Art Club Completes Building Decorations

Completion of the house decorations for Homecoming has been made through the diligent efforts of the Art Club with Frank Wachowiak acting as chairman.

Above the door of the main entrance has been hung a large "Welcome" sign made of felt. Below the lights on both sides of the door and above the "Welcome" sign are the W.S.T.C. seals. Purple and white flags have been placed above the lights and at several different places on the building.

All the decorations are permanent, having been well constructed of good material, and will be of service at another time.

COMMITTEE FOR HOMECOMING

Follow the Great Big Green Dragon

"You've got it — now keep it! Dawg gone ya' don't lose it!" What? The Booster Code.

The dragon is coming to town. Who is he? Find out!!

Every signer of the Booster Code should meet in front of the College Hall at 6:45 tonight to form a gigantic snake dance.

There'll be fun, hilarity, and spirit galore. Winona's crack pep band will lead the wild scamper of enthusiasm. Color, yells, songs (and glowing cheeks) with "Skinny" Thrune bouncing and bounding off his directions.

George McCluskey, chairman of snake dance, will give the signal to "Go" and we'll all "shove off" for the dormitories. From there we'll glide on down to the "main stem" and form huge circles at the intersections.

Then we'll march down to the T. C. annex field where Mr. Pawelek and Kermit MacPherson will be in charge of the program. There'll be football stars, Coach Galligan, alumni, and a special stunt to greet the arriving paraders.

And, after that demonstration of excitement, fervor, and school spirit, Skinny'll yell, "Bring on Mankato!"

Mr. Saetveit Directs Choir

"Every person is a potential musician. Therefore I urge everyone to try out for the choir," said Mr. Saetveit in a talk given in chapel, for the purpose of arousing interest in the organization of an A Capella choir. "Harmonies produced by human voices unaccompanied defines an A Capella choir. In my opinion we are approaching the A Capella age in music," continued Mr. Saetveit.

Students who were not enrolled in the college glee clubs were encouraged to try out. The following students were selected as members of this new organization: first soprano — Helen Benson, Constance Lindgren, Marjorie Moyer, Dorothy Wiler, Wilma Nesler, Marie Tommerson, Lorraine Anderson, Mary Ellen O'Neill, Irene Morken, Maxine Strussy, Etta Farr; second soprano — Hildegard Bachman, Ruth Lyon, Violet Kudart, Edna Kruger, Emily Karlstrom, Marion Lenton, Frances Schultz, Mae Skare, Grace Enger, Dorothy Greening, Theda Blackwell; first alto — Helen Wyman, Lillian Peterson, Catherine Hager, Tinka Bergrud, Hazel King, Pearl Ascott, Alice Valentine, Jewell Nelson; second alto — Fern Drape, Florence Hartig, Alyce Hill, Esther Burns, Frances Rauh, Irene Ciseska, Jeanette Culbertson, Helen English, Virginia Stoppel; first tenor — Fred Moilanen, Edward Zakraishek, Lloyd Ambrosen, Stanley Weinberger, William Bixby, Wilfred Jakobitz; second tenor — Leonard Wiener, Charles Biesanz, Garld Smith, Stanley Arbingast; first bass — Harold Roth, Edwin Stull, James Bean, Louis La Casse, Darwin Stephan, John Wachs, William Owens; second bass — Olaf Sanden, Alan Pawelek, Charles Weisman, William Roth, Ray Dunn, Roy Griese.

Artificial Growing Pains Inflicted

If you have chanced to witness certain male members of the freshman class swinging doors, walking backwards, scrubbing the steps of College Hall, and what not, please don't attribute it to their superabundance of energy, but just ask the upper classmen what it's all about.

Each upper classman has custody over one "freshie", seeing that he performs the task assigned to him. As soon as reports are received from these "big brothers" concerning the degree to which their "little brothers" obeyed commands, the initiation proper will be carried on, headed by a committee of four upper classmen, who will decide their fate for better or for worse.

"Vic" Gislason has been accustomed, lately, to announcing his presence with an alarm clock performing to capacity. One of the prominent members of the football squad (don't tell a soul, but it's "Blondie" Johnson) contributed a most entertaining portion of Social Hour by figuring in a very unique dance.

Edstrom Leads 31 Piece Band

This year the college has developed its first marching pep band. The success of this organization has been displayed in fine fashion by its playing and drilling at football games.

The band is under the capable direction of Harold Edstrom, a student of the college. Mr. Edstrom is assisted in his work with the marching band by James Lundstrom who acts as drum major.

Membership and instrumentation of the band is as follows: trumpets, Everett Edstrom, Dorothy Kalkbrenner, William Bixby, Wilfred Jacobitz, Darwin Stephan, Ruth Chapieski; clarinets, Ray Brown, Margaret Buehler, Irene Ciseska, Beatrice Schaffner, John Wachs, Leonard Weiner, Laura Bunge, Garld Smith; altos, Lauren Amdahl, Helen Wyman, Francis Gilsdorf; saxophones, Vivian Yates, Berniece Schaffner, Suzette Sucker; basses, Roy Greise, Harold Miles, Ronald Zabrocki; trombones, Olaf Sanden, Muriel Foss, Stewart Schultz, Orland Johnson; baritone, Emmett Gibbons; flute, Walter Lynne; drums, Alan Pawelek, James Lundstrom.

College Gives Grads Welcome

Homecoming To Be Scene
Of Pep and Festivity
On Saturday

Students and faculty of Winona State Teachers College welcome the return of former graduates to this Homecoming. It is their earnest desire to instill in the hearts of the alumni the real warmth and feeling that marks the renewing of old friendships.

The center of interests and activities for a period of from one to four years lies within the walls of our college, although during the time of one's attendance the intimacy of the relationship between the school and the student is often prevented. Appreciation of the value and worth of our Alma Mater increases as time goes on.

The alumni's increased appreciation, the students' pep and enthusiasm, aided by the faculty's guidance will enable this Homecoming to realize its aims — to bring together the past and present students of this college, and to make the event a real source of pleasure to all who attend.

Club Vacancies Filled by Seven

To further interest among students in international relations is the purpose of the International Relations Club, a branch of which was organized at W.S.T.C. during the spring quarter last year.

The International Relations Club is affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment of World Peace. This institution furnishes the best of study material each year to the associated organizations.

Membership in the club here is restricted to twenty students. Vacancies are filled by election of new people by the remaining members. These new students must have a scholastic average of "C" to be eligible.

Seven new members have been elected into the club recently, including Christine Breyer, Anita Groose, Jeanette Knutson, Zula Smith, Suzette Sucker, Mildred Wilson, and Helen Wyman.

Friday, Nov. 24, Set for Debate

Having been engaged by the International Relations Club, two representatives of Cambridge University, England, will appear in a non-decision debate at the college auditorium the evening of Nov. 24.

The debate on the question, "Resolved: That the League of Nations Is the Only Secure Guarantee of World Peace" has been made possible through the co-operation of the National Student Federation of America, sponsors of a nation-wide tour by the English students.

The Cambridge debaters will be opposed by two men chosen by Dr. Nels Minne. This team will argue the negative side of the question. Those working with Dr. Minne are Cecil Gronvall, Red Wing; Paul Berkman, Chisholm; Henry Southworth, Glencoe; and Arthur Tait, Mankato.

Outlook for Homecoming Game Promises Gratifying Results

The old fight, vim, vigor, and vitality has been apparent in past Winona homecomings and will be more noticeable than ever in this one.

But homecoming is meant to mean more than that. It is the occasion on which the "old timers" return to their "stamping grounds" of yesterday. Homecoming gives to the student body the opportunity to display to the graduates and to itself the fact that the school has taken advantage of the good that has been left to it, discarded the bad, and has added in quantity and quality those advancements that seem most progressive.

Eugene Thrune, our peppy cheer leader feels certain that the team, the coach, the various clubs, and the student body — in short — the entire school will endeavor to make this homecoming more memorable than any previous one.

A member of the faculty says about the homecoming game, "This game should be one of the most interesting of the season and the Winona boys have every chance of winning from Mankato. Besides the advantage of playing on our own field, the boys are in good condition physically, and, regardless of the poor showing against La Crosse last Saturday, the team should regain their winning form."

Coach Galligan says that the Mankato-Winona game will be one with plenty of keen competition and rivalry, but, as far as knowing who is going to win, he says, that he can tell better after the game is over.

One of the students who has been following the activities says that Winona is bound to win, because the team still has that winning complex.

With all the confidence of the student body and faculty behind them our team cannot but win this game.

THE WINONAN STAFF

Introducing the Open Forum

Students of the true school spirit type will welcome the opportunity to express their views and opinions in the newly inaugurated Open Forum. This avenue of student opinion is meant to be utilized by every person connected with the school.

The scope of the subject matter is intended to be absolutely unlimited. Any subject whatsoever that contains a degree of intelligent argumentation should be included in this Open Forum.

1. Any contribution should be left in the Activities Room.

2. The name of the author or authors should be attached thereon; names will not be printed unless desired.

3. The views and opinions displayed in contributions do not necessarily coincide with those of the staff.

This method of expostulation of student attitudes was tried at a previous time in the history of this institution, but it failed — due to the fact that there was a decided lack of interest shown. More than that, the column rapidly degenerated into an announcement column of petty grievances and trivialities.

The original supporters of this idea had in mind a higher and nobler use of newspaper space when they pleaded for a trial of this Open Forum. No amount of artificial stimulation will suffice to perpetuate this privilege of self-expression.

Let this column be a reflection of original thought on subjects such as should challenge the activities of a mature mentality.

Eugene Thrune, Paul Berkman, Frank Blatnik.

COMING HOME

That's what Homecoming means and that's what we students of W.S.T.C. want it to mean to you. Back to the campus and the lake and all other attractions that held so many charms for you.

You will hear greetings from the president and the alumni. You have received invitations from all clubs of the college.

Words seem so feeble and inadequate at times and this is one of the times. So we are just saying a few words and those, sincerely, "come back and make yourselves at home."

LOST

Lost: Somewhere between the third and last quarter of the St. Cloud-Winona game a perfectly good and gentle goat who answers to the name of "Cloudy Win."

Has anyone seen her? She vanished like a wraith on a summer night despite the precautions and diligence of the entire Winona Eleven, coach Galligan, six members of the college band, and Skinny Thrune. Pecuniary rewards cannot be offered but the heartfelt appreciation of the entire student body and faculty of W.S.T.C. will be generously given for her return.

OPEN FORUM

To a number of "analytical-minded" students the propounding of virtuous ideals such as honesty, frankness, integrity, and initiative is affecting a "near hypocritical" reality in most of the average American institutions of learning.

On the one hand we are taught to be honest, frank, and fearless in our dealings with other members of society, but yet are ostracized for utilizing these very avenues of "character-building" ideals. Of course we are accorded so-called "distinction" when we make use of tactics of this nature — but in a very subtle and unreal manner.

In the opposite sphere of expression there are those humans who radiate a stereotyped attitude on almost all subjects, whether of minute or major importance. These "mass-products" are branded as "average students." However, this type of student is not what our educators hold up to us as our goal.

Concrete examples of these "opposites" are in order.

To illustrate the first case — A student expressing frankly, fearlessly, and honestly his thoughts on various matters of a serious nature, in a term topic, for instance, will probably be harshly

PHELPS SCHOOL NEWS

The carnival sponsored by the Phelps Junior High School is a treat to be enjoyed by all persons of the college. In this activity the junior high school appreciates the patronage of college students. Because of the football game on Nov. 3, the carnival will be held Nov. 10.

The Junior High School Civic League is now active. The program committee has planned a series of programs for the term which have been posted on the bulletin board. All of you are invited to any of the activities.

There are two glass rock gardens in this department. This is the school's first attempt with this experiment. One is on display in Miss Brunner's office; the other may be seen in the assembly.

Kitten-ball days are nearly over and the ninth grade's victory in the tournament will go down in the annals of these boys' athletic history.

In observance of Columbus Day, the children of the fourth grade presented a dramatization of the story of Columbus. The fifth and sixth grade pupils were the audience.

Miss Cramer talked to the fifth grade on "Yellowstone Park."

CLUB NEWS

A short musical program was given by members of the Mason Music Club at a meeting of the club last Monday night. Agnes Bard played an organ solo, Edwin Neeb sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Bard, and Everett Edstrom played a trumpet solo, accompanied by Harold Edstrom. A short business meeting followed the program.

The music department of the S.E.M.E.A. was especially fortunate in securing Professor Edgar B. Gordon as the speaker at the music sectional meeting last Friday.

Hard Attacks Defeat Winona

Homecoming Victory Assures Conference Title For Saints

Because they could not stand up under the strong attacks of the St. Cloud Teachers College football team the Winona Teachers lost a 21 to 0 game at St. Cloud last Saturday afternoon. This Homecoming victory for the Saints practically clinches the Northern Conference title for them.

St. Cloud needs only to win one more game with Mankato to win the title. Mankato being on the bottom of the conference standings this victory seems practically in the bag for the Saints.

However if Winona should win their Homecoming game with Mankato tomorrow and Mankato in turn defeats Saint Cloud the Purple and the Saints will then be tied for first place.

	Won	Lost	Tie	%
St. Cloud...	3	0	0	1000
Winona....	2	1	0	666
Duluth....	1	1	1	500
Bemidji....	1	2	0	333
Moorhead..	0	1	1	000
Mankato...	0	2	0	000

During the first half of the St. Cloud game both teams were playing even up ball each making five first downs. With Joe Germ and Harold Rogge going out of the game on injuries in the first half the Purple were not able to stand the hard driving attacks of the Saints in the last half of the game.

After a prolonged drive into Winona territory in the third period St. Cloud received its first chance to score, of which they took advantage. Malc Doane, St. Cloud halfback, then crashed over the goal for the first touchdown.

Again in the fourth period Doane got away on a 13 yard run to make the second touchdown. In the last few minutes of play Rengel, halfback, raced 37 yards to score. All of the Saints tries for extra points were good.

Winona had but one chance to score, that being in the first half when they worked the ball down to St. Cloud's 30 yard line, but here they lacked the necessary scoring punch to put it over the goal line.

The remainder of the game they played defensive ball with the final period seeing them dropping fast in their defensive power.

Maroons Dash Warrior Hopes

LaCrosse Teachers Employ Hard Driving Tactics To Score

Not being able to withstand the hard driving running attack of a powerful Maroon football team, the Winona Teachers suffered a 33 to 7 defeat at La Crosse Saturday, Oct. 14.

La Crosse made their first touchdown when Bob Kunitz took the ball around left end from the Winona 42 yard line for a touchdown. In the second quarter, Heinzelman and Jarvis added two more touchdowns with short line plunges.

A Winona punt blocked by Hundt in the third period rolled outside the end zone where it was recovered by a Maroon. It later resulted in another touchdown. La Crosse made their last touchdown in the final period when Heinzelman carried the ball over by making a line plunge.

Winona received its only opportunity when Smallbrook of La Crosse got off a bad punt which went out of bounds on the Winona 30 yard line. A first pass was interfered by the Maroons which then put the Purple in a position to score. A second pass, Rogge to Germ, was completed for the touchdown. Rogge kicked the extra point.

Quite an argument arose over the punt which Hundt blocked in the third period. The officials gave the Maroons a touchdown on it while

CASUAL COMMENTS

It is quite evident that what Glen Galligan needs is more reserve power in his line. In the La Crosse game certain touchdowns could have been diverted if Coach was able to put in a strong substitute.

Again in the St. Cloud game when the Teachers had played even up ball the first half, they did not have reserve power enough to last a full game. While on the other hand, St. Cloud was shoving in reserves bigger and better than those that were originally playing.

However, this is a problem that most coaches are confronted with. Minnesota might have been able to win their Indiana and Purdue games if they would have been stronger in their reserve power. So you see this is not primarily a teachers college problem but very widespread. Our only hope is that our reserve power is strong enough to take Mankato at Homecoming.

both coaches said it should have been a safety for La Crosse. The ball bounded out of Hundt's hands into the end zone where it was recovered by a Winona player.

Winona, after finding that they could not make their line plays successful, started to launch an aerial attack. However, their passing proved fruitless when the Maroons literally smothered them. Six of the Winona passes were intercepted in the fourth period. One of them resulted in the last touchdown for La Crosse.

Women's Athletic Activities

If this favorable weather continues, there will be no excuse for not finishing the tennis tournament. The first round eliminated Isabel Downing, Maxine Kanthack, Gwendolyn Englerth, and Lorraine Anderson. The matches of the second round are being played at present. Constance Torgirson will try to prove her supremacy over Eleanor Zabel, Helen English over Glenna Ames, Mary Jane Weisman over Norma Westman, and Margie Nupen over Elsie Finkelnburg — or vice versa. Witnesses to the matches report that the girls are in good form and competition for the position of championship is keen. More power to you, and may the best player win.

Hike for health and W. A. A. points! There is a general feeling that the women of the college do not take advantage of the fine plans made by our sports leaders. We ask you to notice the poster on the bulletin board in the girls' locker room.

FOOTBALL FORECAST

Winona 0 St. Cloud 6
 Winona 13 Mankato 0
 Winona 7 Eau Claire 0
 Winona 12 Rochester J. C. 6

These forecasts were made Friday afternoon, the day before the St. Cloud game. It looks as if the editor was way off on that first game. But then most people expect forecasters to be wrong so I won't be an exception to the rule.

I have picked Winona two touchdowns better than Mankato because of their standings in the conference and their defeats by various teams which the Purple have downed.

Eau Claire lost to Stout by one touchdown and Winona lost to them by the same score. Nevertheless I'm figuring that the Purple should have rightly won that game, so therefore putting the Teachers one touchdown better than Eau Claire.

Rochester is a team that is very erratic and may turn the tables but from the standing of other years and their games this year the Teachers should be close to two touchdowns better.

Notes on S. E. M. E. A.

Reaching the Individual Through Instruction

Dr. Horn, College of Education, U. of Iowa, emphasized the needs and the expectations of the child in the classroom in his talk "Reaching the Individual Through Instruction."

Of all the students along the different levels of education, "no two are alike," says Dr. Horn. "Even the same student isn't the same next week, except by name and in superficial affairs." Therefore, it is absolutely necessary that we "make adaptations to the individuals, day by day, if we are to have anything resembling good teaching."

In answer to his own question "What does the child expect when he comes to school?", Dr. Horn says, "The student has a right to expect (1) that every one of the crucial and fundamental values are brought to him some time in his school life, (2) that he will not be lost in the general lock-step of the class, (3) that the teacher possess real scholarship, and (4) that the methods the teacher uses are the best adaptations which science and philosophy know. In brief, The child has a right to expect that he is going to get ahead when he gets to school."

Mastering the Machine Age

"If you and I can keep idealism on that which is high, we can make man master machine power of them all," was the inspirational thought that concluded the talk given by Dr. Ralph D. Sockman.

Analyzing the "machine age" with four paradoxes, Dr. Sockman's talk "Mastering the Machine Age" was received by an assembly of teachers and superintendents. He is pastor of the Madison Avenue Episcopal Church of New York City and a noted radio speaker and author.

"We are facing together the most challenging period in history," asserted Dr. Sockman. "We are undergoing a crisis in character in the midst of a moral revolution."

"What we can do as teachers," offered Dr. Sockman, "is to give a corresponding emphasis to the spiritual factor that is given to the physical factors."

"No person shows he is truly educated until he is 60 because the test of true education is to keep going — culturally."

"The supreme task of the teacher," declared Dr. Sockman, "is not to give and provide mere secular education, but information, co-operation, and consecration to the brotherhood of man."

Can We Be Happy in a Troubled World?

Dr. Knight, of the University of Iowa, in addressing the S.E.M.-E.A. convention asked this question and answered it by saying, "Yes, if we are wise and understanding of our own inner nature and have the courage to examine ourselves and see how things are going."

Some of the rules for happiness which Dr. Knight considered essential are:

1. Live in a good world, not in world in which about everything you do is wrong.

2. Live in a neighborly world.

3. Wake up and go to sleep with decision.

4. Toughen up; stop being sorry for yourself.

5. Be mature as often as you can and as long as you can.

Among his closing remarks was this challenge, "I don't ask that 40% of your personality be babyish; it is anyway, and so is mine. I don't ask that 40% of your personality be adolescent; it is anyway, and so is mine. Try to be 20% a man."

The Big Top and Side Show

"Speech Training belongs in the educational Big Top rather than in the Side Show" argued Dr. Weaver, Chairman of the dept. of speech, University of Wisconsin, at the Friday morning program. Most of the speech work at the present time is limited to extra-curricular activities, but any advance in the training of children in speech demands "that speech education be something bigger, broader, and better than these extra-curricular activities can ever be. We must labor to bring speech training into the curriculum and keep it there."

The importance of speech training was expressed in the following words of Dr. Weaver: "Speech is the bridge which connects an individual with his social group. That man has the richest mental life who has the most adequate speech."

Minneapolis String Trio

The concert of the Minneapolis String Trio of Friday evening brought out a large responsive audience.

Members of this trio are H. J. Williams, harpist; K. Scheuner, violinist; C. Fisher, celloist.

The concert featured beautiful interchanging melodies and counter melodies between the violin and cello while the harp furnished the background music.

The harpist displayed unusual and beautiful technique, and was very well liked by the audience.

Have You Heard—

That Miss Dorothy Clark was born in Jamaica and saw her first American when she was five years old?

That over 130 students have tried out for the A Cappella choir?

That there are 320 pictures in the main halls of this college?

That the motto of the Prison Mirror, the paper of the Minnesota State prison, is "It's never too late to mend."

That many of the women of Tokyo are having their eyelids cut so as to get a more open and soulful expression — like the women of the western world.

That by actual count there are 235 steps to climb in W.S.T.C.?

That "Ich Liebe Dich, Und Wie!" would cause a certain sandy haired baritone of the Apollo Club to blush.

That in the State of Minnesota the federal government spent $12,000,000 on rivers, over $10,000,000 on roads and only $50,000 on Education?

Have you heard that Miss Gildemeister who spoke at the M.E.A. convention at St. Cloud did her best to steal that famous old goat but St. Cloud thwarted her attempts?

J.C. PENNEY Co.

ALMOST like fairy tales — these money-saving stories that Penney's price tags tell! And, of course, there's cause for wonder. Unless you know Penney's, they are hard to believe.

THE TOREADOR

Good ol' Pete Deanovic has returned to his old stamping grounds with his usual stock of anecdotes. Pete tells me he was earnestly cautioning his football squad concerning the dangers from exposure.

"I had a little brother seven years old," he said, "and one day he took his new sled out into the snow. He was taken very ill with pneumonia and three days later he died."

Utter silence reigned among the squad. Pete was heartened at the effect his story had produced. Suddenly a brawny 210 pound fullback rasped out, "Where's his sled?"

Word has reached the Toreador over the official grapevine that "Cookie" Vukelich, former student now employed at the Virginia County Supply House, is prospering. It seems that a customer made a twenty-five cent purchase, threw down a half-dollar, and walked away, leaving his change.

"Does this happen often?" asked an onlooker.

"Very often," replied "Cookie."

"What do you do in a case like that?"

"Oh," came the reply, "I always rap on the window with a sponge."

Now that John Saari is teaching at Eyota, he feels that his improved financial status allows him to recall this past incident:

Landlady — I think you had better board elsewhere.

John — Yes, I often had.

Landlady — Often had what?

John — Had better board elsewhere.

In a similar train of thought, we recall an incident of a year ago: Landlord — "You know we keep it very quiet and orderly here. Do you have any children?"

Jimmie Kearney — "No."

Landlord — "A piano, radio, or victrola?"

Jimmie — "No."

Landlord — "Do you play any musical instrument? Do you have a dog, cat, or parrot?"

Jimmie, weakly — "No, but my fountain pen scratches a little sometimes."
